Forecast for Wednesday 24 Feb 2021

Weather: A breezy, wet and dull start with a chance of heavy rain until mid-morning. The rain gradually easing through the middle of the day with a few brighter spells possible in the east of the park. Rain returning during the evening, turning rather persistent once again.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 600m: 50% through the afternoon, otherwise 20% at best.

Visibility: Cloud will be thick and extensive above 400-500m during much of the morning and then during the evening. Below this, rain will make visibility very hazy and often limited to a few kilometres. Cloud may lift to 600m or occasionally above summits through afternoon.

Meteorologist's View

Although temperatures will be above freezing, strong winds and rain will give a cold feel to the day. Afternoon improvement in visibility should be treated as unreliable.
